*For those of you young enough to remember black and white films, Whitehall 1212 will be a familiar number as this was the original telephone number of Scotland Yard and was mentioned in most police films.
Scotland Yard, the Headquarters of the Metropolitan Police, was originally situated in Whitehall before moving to Victoria Embankment.*

Most of Whitehall was land given to the Royal Family of Scotland by the English Crown in about 800 A.D. It became known as Scotland Yard - the official residence of the Kings of Scotland in London.

It became the Police Headquarters in 1888 and its main gates provided a background in many police films. They relocated to Victoria Embankment in the 1960s as the offices became too small.

In keeping with the history of the area it was therefore decided to name the Restaurant after this famous telephone number.

"There is no sincerer love than the love of food."
